Proposed Architecture for Final Product

I have performed two card sorts by myself, and I then asked two of my roommates again to sort through my cards. This time, I did not do an open sort, I performed a closed sort with the categories of Home, Hobbies, Travel, and About Me. The following are the results:

Home
- Introduction to the Website
- Social Media Links

Hobbies
- Guitar
- Playing Video Games
- Listening to Music
- Watching Movies
- Jokes
- MSU Athletics

Travel
- California Sunset
- Mackinac Sunrise
- Grand Canyon Rim
- Hawaii Coastline
- Puerto Rico Rainforest
- Sedona Desert

About Me
- What I have done
- Who I am
- What I look to do in the future

This card sort, as opposed to the card sort I previously did earlier in the semester, was a closed sort instead of an open sort. Since this time around I had a well-defined group of materials that I wanted on the site, I wanted to make sure that others saw them the same way that I saw them. And due to my roommates putting my cards in the same headers just about every time, it seems that the site has content that will be well placed.
